

Cllr Heather Rickards

I have lived in Pilning since 1974. Our children were educated locally and have now left the area to pursue successful careers. My husband, Geoff, died in 2008.

Before my retirement in 2015 I worked at Pilning Primary School and Bradley Stoke Library.

In 2018, with financial help from the Parish Council, I set up the Severn Beach Community Library. It is under the umbrella of the South Gloucestershire Library Service but is now self-financed and runs with the help of a team of volunteers.

I am also involved in St Peter's Church, the local Ramblers Group and Thornbury area U3A.

My love of walking and cycling has nurtured an understanding and concern for our built and natural environment.
